

Speedy Words

Activities to support over-learning and fluency in reading taught words and sounds. This activity works well with learning common exception words (those which can't be sounded out).

In advance, select up to 5 words or sounds you would like your learner to practise. Choose one of the grids, e.g. brickheads or computers. Write one word on each shape on your grid.

The learner then reads the words as fast as they can, and records their time. Repeat this activity to beat their time, as many times as required/desired.

Make a new grid when new words are introduced which need practising.
